Alfred Procter

Year of Call: 2005

Practice Overview

Alfred comes highly recommended as the 'best representation you can get'.

He is a skilled professional advocate, dedicated to the best outcomes for his clients.

He is a problem solver- which is a crucial and often game-changing skill, when navigating an effective way forward, following relationship breakdown.

His clients report that:

- He has an unexpected empathy; in him you have a genuine ally.
- He has an expert knowledge of the law and the relevant caselaw at his fingertips.
- He exudes confidence inside and outside of court and establishes excellent rapport- which is reassuring.
- He has a laser focus, the sense that nothing else matters when you talk with him.
- His preparation is meticulous.
- Alfred is very easy to reason with, and to communicate your views to. He gives clear and concise advice. He takes your views on board, representing them both accurately and expertly.
- Alfred is encouraging and supportive in court, yet firm in his handling when required.
- His calmness is pervasive. Nerves are quietened by his immediate sense of control he projects over where things stand with your case.

He appears regularly in complex private law children, and complex financial remedy cases, often representing the same client on both aspects.
