Georgina Cole

Year of Call: 2007

Practice Overview

Georgina completed her pupillage in Chambers and was trained by Sarah Morgan QC, Andrew Bagchi QC and Richard Scarratt (now His Honour Judge Scarratt). Initially her practice covered all areas of family law with a particular emphasis on matrimonial finance, private law children and public law proceedings.

Since October 2011, Georgina has accepted public access instructions.

Within public law proceedings, Georgina has experience of complex fact-finding and welfare hearings involving non-accidental injury, sexual abuse, severe neglect and substance abuse. She was instructed by Local Authorities, parents, children through their Guardians and interveners, including grandparents. She frequently acted for vulnerable clients, including those suffering from learning or mental health difficulties. While Georgina continues to draw on her public law experience, her practice now focuses on private law children, including international children law, and financial remedy work.

Within private law children proceedings, Georgina advises and acts in child arrangement order disputes. She is frequently instructed to represent parents involved in complex private law proceedings, dealing with issues such as domestic violence, substance misuse, sexual abuse, emotional/psychological harm and risk of abduction. She acts for parents in cases involving the temporary and permanent removal of children from the jurisdiction, including the reported decision [JS \(A Child\) \[2014\] EWHC B20 \(Fam\)](#).

Georgina often represents parties in both their private law children and financial remedy proceedings, providing them with continuity of counsel. Georgina advises and acts in all areas of matrimonial finance, including cases involving assets held outside of the jurisdiction, business valuations, pension disputes, dissipation of assets and trust assets. Georgina has experience in cases involving third party interests and has acted on behalf of interveners.

Georgina was a contributor to Chambers' guide to Schedule 1 of the Children Act 1989 for Family Law, published by Jordan's Family Law, 2010 and acts for clients within those proceedings. She also advises clients in potential and ongoing Trusts of Land and Appointment of Trustees Act 1996 cases.

Georgina is known for her sympathetic, yet robust, approach.
